

In a survey of 107 countries, 9 out of 10 people say they would act against corruption if they had the power to do so.

